AN EDITORIAL

Let's stop the foolishness!

When the City Council voted $1,000,000 for construction of a new Civic Center it was doing so in the best interests of the city.

The Civic Center is a necessity and is designed to meet the needs of a growing community.

We have reason to believe everyone will be proud of these structures -- a new library, a new fire headquarters building and refurbishing of the present city hall and library for use as police headquarters and administrative offices.

Passage of the Civic Center resolution by the City Council also resulted in a 10-cent tax increase to help finance the project.

The tax increase is justified for the money is going into a long-overdue building program that will benefit every Upland citizen. It supposedly is to promote education, safety and administrative efficiency in attractive surroundings.

However, there are a couple of proposals, one which has been approved and the other coming before the Planning Commission Thursday, Aug. 28 and the City Council at a later date, which we vigorously oppose.

No. 1 objection is granting by the Planning Commission and City Council of a conditional use permit for construction of a gasoline station on the northeast corner of Arrow Highway and 2nd Avenue opposite the new Civic Center complex.

No. 2 objection is a proposal going before the Planning Commission asking approval of a conditional use permit to establish a carry-out food business across from the proposed new library at Euclid Avenue and D Street.

The photo at right speaks for itself. This is the actual photo the petitioner for the conditional use permit is submitting to the Planning Commission for consideration.

There is no logical reason this permit should be granted.

We sincerely hope that a sufficient number of residents will attend this public hearing at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 25, to voice their protest.

Unless these protests are raised our proposed new Civic Center instead of being something of beauty will turn out to be nothing more than a clump of buildings ringed by chicken, taco and hot dog stands and gas stations.

Let's put an end to this foolishness now.

Civic Center library faces 'fried chicken' neighbor

Public hearing set Thursday, Aug. 25 by Planning Board

WILL THIS ENHANCE CIVIC CENTER?--Photo above is to be submitted to Planning Commission Thursday, Aug. 25, as a 'prototype' of the type establishment the petitioner, Rollen V. Cox, will build across from the new Civic Center library if granted a conditional use permit by the Planners and City Council.

Ten public hearings are on the agenda Thursday, Aug. 25, when the Planning Commission meets in the City Hall chambers at 7:30 p.m.

One of the hearings, however, has already stirred considerable interest--and opposition. It is an application by Rollen V. Cox of 659 Quince Ave., Upland, requesting a conditional use permit to establish a carry-out food business and offices in a Planned Unit Civic Center (PUCC zoning district).

On southeast corner

The area where the establishment would be constructed was described as two lots having a combined area of 16,800 square feet located at the southeast corner of Euclid Avenue and D Street.

The proposed new Civic Center library will be across the street.

The application by Cox has already brought the Planning Commission one letter of protest from John and Nancy Alderman of 1340 N. Euclid Ave., Upland. It reads as follows:

"Gentlemen: According to a posted notice, there is a proposal to locate a take-out food business on the southeast corner of Euclid Avenue and D Street, south of the new city library. This is to inform you that we, the undersigned, as Upland voters, strongly object to this proposal."

Asks 'News' help

In another letter to The Upland News, Alderman wrote: "Enclosed is a copy of a letter to the Upland Planning Commission which more or less explains itself.

"As I understand things, the city really wants to put the new city library on the northeast corner of Euclid Avenue and D Street, although the sign announcing its location is now next door north.

"However, nobody in his right mind wants a Taco shop and a Frostee Freeze -- by hearsay what is proposed -- on that corner whether it is immediately across the street from the new library or one lot removed.

"I feel sure The News will do all it can to prevent this. It does seem as if we have to keep alert to keep our town from being fouled up."

Alderman also noted in a postscript a recent editorial comment by this newspaper in its opposition to a gas station opposite the Civic Center. At that time The News said approval of the latter permit would be similar to having a hot dog stand across from the White House.

The city now faces the prospect of not only having a gas station opposite the Civic Center but a take-home chicken establishment across from the new library.

(See editorial in columns 1 and 2.)

One withdrawal

The Planning Commission agenda Thursday night also includes a request for withdrawal of an application for a zone change from R-3 to commercial-professional involving four lots on the northeast corner of Euclid Avenue and F Street. The latter is the site of the former St. Mark's Church.

The public hearing on the latter application is a continuation of a hearing opened at the commission's last meeting July 28.

At that time the Planners were informed by Planning Consultant Simon Eisner that the zone change does not conform to the General Plan and recommended a restudy be made prior to any action being taken.

It was also noted by residents attending the meeting to protest the zone change that if granted it would destroy the residential character of the area north of Arrow Highway.

The zone change request was made by Richard Hield of Upland who said he was one of the property owners. He didn't state what type business building would be constructed if the zone change was granted.

Other public hearings on the agenda are as follows:

General Plan Amendment, Planning Commission initiation, area bounded by 11th Street on the north, 2nd Avenue on the east, F Street on the south and Euclid Avenue on the west.

General Plan Amendment, Planning Commission initiation, area described as approximately 4-1/2 acres at the southeast corner of Redding Way and Foothill Boulevard.

Zone change (R-3 to C-4) Van Nuys Savings & Loan Association. Approximately 4-1/2 acres at the southeast corner of Redding Way and Foothill Boulevard.

Zone change petition

Zone change (C-2 to C-4) Hilda J. Shook, applicant, on approximately 5.2 acres at the northwest corner of Mountain Avenue and the Pacific Electric Railway Company right-of-way located south of Arrow Highway.

Conditional Use Permit to establish additional land to be used for St. Joseph's Catholic Church for the purpose of providing housing for the training of Sisters to teach children, grades 1 through 8, in an R-3 zone. The area is approximately 0.57 acres located on the north side of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, about 200 feet west of Campus Avenue.

Conditional Use Permit requested by Joseph J. Benes of 502 E. 21st St., Upland, to establish an equestrian establishment within an A-1 zoning district. The area is the east 3.2 acres of the 10-acre parcel east of Euclid Avenue on the south side of 21st Street.

Variance asked

Variance requested by E. V. Tooman of 1011 W. 16th St., Upland, to allow two parcels with sub-standard areas of 8,758 square feet to be created in an R-1-C Zone. The area is on one acre on the north side of 16th Street, 1,300 feet east of Mountain Avenue.

Text Amendment initiated by the Planning Commission. Proposed amendment to the text of Chapter 1 -- Zoning Regulations, Article IX of the Upland Municipal Code, RE: Proposal to permit uses in P-U-C-C Zone by Conditional Use Permits and Change of Occupancy Permits.

In other business, the Planning Commission will consider approval of an extension of a tentative tract by the Kennan Construction Company involving 18 lots at the northeast corner of Euclid Avenue and 20th Street in an R-1-A Zone.

Extension wanted

Also, an extension approval on a tentative tract by Fred Aldous on 26 lots at southeast corner of 2nd Avenue and 15th Street in an R-1-C Zone.

Also, a Record of Survey by the City of Upland for the City Hall at 177 D Street, on a lot split on the east side of San Antonio Avenue, 661 feet south of 21st Street in an SP Zone.

Winding up the agenda will be a discussion on consideration of adoption of a resolution of the Planning Commission reviewing and endorsing an application by the city for a grant to acquire open space land.

Less than state average

County property assessed at 21.6 per cent of value

The State Board of Equalization this week announced that property in San Bernardino County is assessed, on the average, at 21.6 per cent of its full cash value. This finding together with similar findings for the past two years will be used in arriving at the amount of State school aid to school districts.

Southern California Member Richard Nevins said that the Board found the 58-county weighted average was 22.1 per cent for the 1966-67 fiscal year. This figure is up slightly from the 21.8 per cent found last year.

The Board is empowered in September to raise or reduce assessed values--the basis for tax rates--in those counties whose assessment ratios vary too far from the statewide average. The purpose of this process is to promote reasonable uniformity in assessment ratios among all counties.

Nevins said the counties this year varied from 18.0 per cent in Lake County to 25.0 per cent in Alpine County. This range is somewhat smaller than last year's.

Last year, when the counties varied from 17.9 to 25.4 per cent, the Board concluded that no equalization orders were needed.

By law, the Board must publish annually its finding of the relationship of assessed to full cash value for each county. This ratio is used in the apportionment of State aid to school districts and by State Controller Alan Cranston in computing school construction loan repayments to the State.

County budget hurt by late state pay

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) - Unless steps are taken to collect money due the county from the California Medical program the county hospital operating budget will be two and one half million dollars short next July 1.

The information was relayed to the county Board of Supervisors Monday in a letter written by County Hospital Administrator Clifford M. Thayer. He asked the supervisors to take whatever action within its power to speed payments.

"The non-payment situation by the state is becoming more serious each month," Thayer's letter said.

GETTING READY FOR ACTION - The three leaders of the newly formed Citizens Committee to back the Chino Basin Municipal Water District bond election Oct. 4 get together in the committee's office at 615 N. Euclid Ave., Ontario, to plan their strategy. From the left are: Alan Swinler, treasurer; Bill Walk, finance chairman; and County Supervisor Dan Mikesell, general chairman.

'Big U' sign poses financial and maintenance problems

The future of Upland's "Big U" sign today remains in doubt. Not that it is to be taken down but a never-ending maintenance problem has reared its head again.

The Downtown Merchants, who had the sign erected in June, 1964, at a cost of $9,695, want the city to take over its maintenance.

The City Council, however, after receiving a report on the sign from City Manager Elwin Alder expressed reluctance to assume the financial responsibility.

According to Alder, the Council in May, 1964, offered to be responsible for the sign's maintenance and operation after one year of satisfactory operation. In the minutes of a Council meeting in November, 1964, it was noted the sign's operation was not satisfactory.

The sign had a one-year guarantee so it was repaired by the Ontario Neon Sign Company, the firm from whom it was purchased, and another one - year warantee given in March, 1965.

The latter warantee ran out this past March and since that time one side of the sign refuses to light up at night, Alder said, He described the problem as a broken weld. He added that the sign company will provide the necessary maintenance on a three-year contract at $91 per month.

Alder also noted that the city pays an annual electricty bill on the sign which amounts to $491.

The Council abruptly ended further discussion on the matter and continued with other reports, apparently tossing the ball back into the Merchants' laps.

'BIG U' PRESENTS PROBLEMS -- This is the "Big U" sign on 9th Street at 1st Avenue. It was erected two years ago by the Downtown Merchants at a cost of $9,695. Merchants want city to take over maintenance but the Council is reluctant.

Council slams door on door-to-door drive

The annual fund-raising campaign by the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation in Upland had the door closed in its face by the City Council before it could even launch its campaign slated next month.

The request to conduct the fund drive in Upland came from James L. Neagle, president of the San Fernardino Cystic Fibrosis Chapter and was submitted at the Aug. 16 Council meeting.

In his letter to the Council, Neagle said in part: "During the month of September . . . the San Bernardino County Chapter is attempting to organize a door-to-door campaign in the Upland area. Our girls are calling people in nearly every block to solicit their help in carrying the kits from door to door.

"Inasmuch as the Poster Child is Brian Ray from the West End, we would appreciate your declaring the month of September as "Cystic Fibrosis Month" to help in this drive."

The Council on a motion by Councilman Ronald Rossitter moved that the letter be accepted and placed on file.

Councilwoman Zella Stone then moved that the city clerk be directed to reply to the organization to the effect that the Council has no objections to declaring the month of September as Cystic Fibrosis Month but also to remind them that the Council "frowns" on door-to-door campaigns.

The letter was also to note that there is still a necessity of obtaining a permit from the Police Department before door-to-door soliciting can take place and that the Council does not look favorably upon these requests.

All other members of the Council present concurred.

Says bookmaking invitation to crime

Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, 57th District, today denounced the proposal by the American Trial Lawyers' Association to legalize bookmaking saying it would be an invitation for organized crime to take over the State of California.

"It is especially unfortunate that such a proposal would come from a group of lawyers who should recognize the danger that is not apparent to the average citizen.

Growers reminded of deadline for orchard heater permits

Applications for orchard heater permits for the 1966-67 season were mailed to growers on Aug. 19.

County Air Pollution Control District regulations require permits for all orchard heaters located where they could be used for frost protection, including those stored under trees in any orchard.

Permits are issued on an annual basis and the deadline for filing applications is Nov. 1.

Penalty fees will be assessed for delinquent applications. Applications mailed and postmarked after midnight Nov. 1 will be considered delinquent.

Growers are requested to prepare heating equipment for inspection as soon as possible after receiving application forms so that permits may be processed and mailed prior to heating.

New owners or growers of whom this office has no record may obtain the necessary forms to make application for permits from the Air Pollution Control District office located at the Hall of Records, 172 W. 3rd St., San Bernardino.

Pettis challenges Dyal to debate county issues

Jerry Pettis, congressional candidate from San Bernardino County, yesterday issued a challenge to debate the incumbent congressman on the issues concerning county residents.

"I believe residents of the 33rd Congressional District have not had an opportunity to hear the position of the incumbent on the issues of vital interest to this county.

"The incumbent has avoided his constituents, has failed to open the authorized field offices deserved by this county, and has consistently bowed to pressure groups regardless of the feelings of the people.

"I challenge the incumbent to debate the issues with me in a public meeting to be arranged at his convenience.

"I will leave the date, time and place up to the incumbent congressman."

Pettis said that if Representative Dyal didn't acknowledge the challenge by Sept. 15, Pettis would again issue the challenge, naming a date, time and place.

Adult Evening School opens Sept. 12 at Chaffey High

The Chaffey High School District's Adult Evening School will begin classes Sept. 12.

Response to the opening of an adult program has been very gratifying, according to Mr. Harvey Shirk, principal of the school, who said indications point to a capacity enrollment with a waiting list for all classes. Pre-registration was conducted last June and over 300 adults registered during the two-week period.

The school office opened July 25 and registrations are now at capacity for 14 of the 20 classes approved by the District Board of Trustees.

There are a few openings remaining in the following courses: Consumer mathematics, intermediate typing, bookkeeping, office machines, vocational sewing and general auto mechanics.

Registration is now under way for the second beginning typing class which is scheduled for Nov. 14. This class is organized on a nine-week basis, two nights a week and three hours a night. The first class of 40 students opens Sept. 12 and is filled to capacity.

The Adult Evening School was approved on a limited basis by the District Board of Trustees last spring. The 1966-67 curriculum is planned for non-high school graduates who wish to obtain their diplomas.

The complete curriculum follows: (Classes are filled except for those mentioned above.) Americanization (Citizenship-English), English 1-2, English 3-6, United States history, civics, contemporary American history, consumer mathematics, typing (beginning and intermediate), bookkeeping, shorthand (beginning), office machines, general auto mechanics, clothing construction and vocational sewing.

There are no tuition fees charged. However, all students must purchase their books and class supplies.

Registration will continue in the school office which is located in the Gardiner W. Spring Auditorium on the Chaffey High School campus.

Openings in classes where students do not report the first class meeting will be filled from the waiting list that is being made from late registrations.

National Orange Show Offers $100 prize for 1967 theme

An orange is an orange, is an orange, is an orange--but a theme--ahhhh! That's $100 in cash.

And $100, that's a lot of things--just like the 52nd National Orange Show in San Bernardino--lots of fun, lots of excitement, lots of attractions.

Picking a theme is like picking an orange. It must be bright, with deep, rich color, and plenty of favor.

And it is easy to do.

To pick the theme for the 52nd National Orange Show, March 9-19, just think of a catchy little phrase which describes the show, then write it on a postcard and mail it to the National Orange Show, P.O. Box 29, San Bernardino, Calif.

All entries must include the name of the person submitting the entry, the person's address and the telephone number.

Only one entry may be made per postcard, but the number of individual entries is not limited. Entry deadline is Saturday, Sept. 17. All entries must be postmarked before midnight and all themes become the property of the National Orange Show.

Last year's theme was "Accent on Citrus," and in previous years the theme has been "Citrus Wonderland," "Citrus Capers," etc.

The theme that is selected will be used throughout the 1967 show, in the colorful citrus feature exhibit displays, as well as in the commercial, midway, and thousand and one other features of the show.

Last year there were approximately 7,500 entries in the contest, and this year there should be even more.

It's easy, it's fun, and it's cold cash on the line.

"GAS AIR CONDITIONING? IT'S REFRESHING!"
"But how do you get the dog out for a walk?"
Everyone likes it better inside with gas air conditioning.
There's just nothing more refreshing—unless perhaps it's the idea of saving money.
The initial cost of gas air conditioning units has gone down an average of 20% in the last five years, and it's an expenditure that adds greatly to the long term value of your home. If you have forced air heating, you may be able to save by using the same ductwork for cooling.
With a bare minimum of moving parts, a simple gas air conditioning unit lasts twice as long as more complicated air conditioning equipment. That means big savings on repairs and maintenance.
As a fuel, gas is most economical and there is a special low rate with savings up to 25% on gas used for air conditioning May through October.
Nothing takes the heat off you better or more economically than gas air conditioning. For more information, write for "The Quiet Facts" from The Gas Company.

Rev. Elbert Smith new pastor at Brethren in Christ Church

Rev. Elber B. Dourte will leave the pastorate of the Upland Brethren in Christ Church with a final service on Sunday, Aug. 28, and he will be succeeded by Rev. Elbert N. Smith of Grantham, Pa., who will be installed the following Sunday.

Rev. Dourte will be completing nine years as pastor of the Upland congregation. When he arrived in Upland in December, of 1957, the congregation had just vacated its former church building at Third Ave. and F St. and was meeting temporarily in the Upland College chapel.

Rev. Dourte led the group then in the construction of the new church sanctuary, education building, and fellowship hall located at the corner of San Antonio Avenue and Arrow Highway.

He has been active in the Upland Ministerial Association and in other ministerial activities throughout southern California. His wife, Ruth, has also played an active role in church life by teaching Sunday School classes and Bible clubs.

The Dourtes will be leaving at the end of this month to assume the pastorate of the Brethren in Christ church in Lancaster, Pa. They have three children: Ray, a sophomore at Messiah College; Ester, who will be a freshman at Messiah, and Faithe, 9.

REV. ELBERT N. SMITH

Rev. Smith formerly was pastor of the Lancaster congregation, but more recently he has been director of admissions at Messiah College. He has held numerous positions of leadership in the Brethren in Christ church, including being secretary of the commission on Sunday Schools. He and his wife, Airlene, are the parents of five children: Patricia, a sophomore at Massiah College; Beverly, 15; Philip, 11; Steven, 10; and David, 5. They will reside at the church parsonage, 857 W. Arrow Highway.

Rev. Dourte will preach his final sermon Sunday morning, Aug. 28, and then he and his family will be honored at a reception as part of the evening service. Rev. Smith will be installed Sunday, Sept. 4.

Curtain rings down this week on Girl Scout camping season

The summer camping season for The Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council is drawing to a close with the final session of Camp Conifer ending on Aug. 27 and that of Hideout Canyon, Glendora, ending on Aug. 26. The last day camp will be over for this summer on Aug. 25.

"Camp Pepper Grove" is presently playing host to 100 Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes. The hot weather does not dampen the spirits of these campers as they anticipate the events of each of the six days under the shady trees of Upland Memorial Park.

Hikes, cooking and crafts are favorite activities of these age groups. A field trip to the San Bernardino County Museum in Bloomington was enjoyed on Aug. 18 by the Juniors, and the Brownies will be transported there by private cars on Aug. 24. That will be the day when the Juniors and Cadettes will move the base of their operations to Roadside Rest in Cucamonga to spend their overnighter.

Adults supervising this busy camp are Mmes. F. L. Collins, Ontario, director; E. C. Sass, Upland, shopper and business manager; D. M. Turis, Ontario, health supervisor; R. L. Coombe, Ontario, mascot unit leader; George Brewitz, Ontario, Cadette unit leader; J. R. Ehret, Upland, R. E. Shuman, Ontario, F. T. Wilhelm, Cucamonga and E. L. Staggs, Ontario, all with the Junior units; Van Wheeler, Upland, F. J. Teagle and B. J. Sutton, both of Ontario, all with the Brownie units.

Custom art and picture frame shop marks grand opening

Dorthe Gerst, a painter from the San Fernando Valley, and Wally Westmoreland, a framemaker from Ontario, combined talents Aug. 1 to open the Gallery Frame Shop at 238 S. 2nd Ave., Upland.

Dorthe does different, original work which she sells in the gallery and Wally makes custom frames for any paintings.

Dorothe has worked in many art studios, including Walt Disney's animation department. She calls herself a custom-decorator artist, specializing in decorative paintings for the home, and murals for home and business.

Besides the painting, Dorthe also does custom art decorating for customers and gives decorative-art lessons in the gallery. Her paintings are mostly in Acrylics, a water base material that looks like an oil painting on gold leaf canvass.

Wally has specialized in making frames for several years. His forte is gold leaf and hand-carved frames but does any type of custom work. Before moving to the new location he previously operated Wally's Frame Shop at 151 S. 2nd Ave.

The Gallery Frame Shop, in downtown Upland, is open daily, and is filled with work produced by Dorthe and Wally. The Gallery will hold its grand opening Friday and Saturday, Aug. 26-27, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., with free door prizes.

New county ordinance to govern junk dealers

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) - The county sheriff's department received the green light from the county Board of Supervisors Monday, Aug. 22, for an ordinance which would tighten control of sales to junk dealers and second hand stores by private indivduals. The ordinance proposed by the sheriff's department will require firms dealing in second hand merchandise to be licensed and to make daily, descriptive reports to the sheriff's office of all merchandise purchased from individuals or firms.

A public hearing will be held by supervisors on Sept. 19. The ordinance was proposed by sheriff's detective Fred R. Smith, in charge of the pawn shop and junk detail. He told supervisors that present regulations of junk dealers and second hand stores were not stiff enough.

He proposed, and the supervisors approved his suggestion, than an ordinance be passed requiring dealers in second hand goods and junk to be licensed at an initial cost of $200 with a charge of $150 annually thereafter.

In addition, the ordinance will require dealers to make comprehensive reports by noon each day of items purchased. Detective Smith said that while junk dealers are presently making reports to the department they were sketchy and did not furnish enough information to readily identify them if stolen property.

"This ordinance will be of considerable assistance to the recovery of stolen property," Smith said.

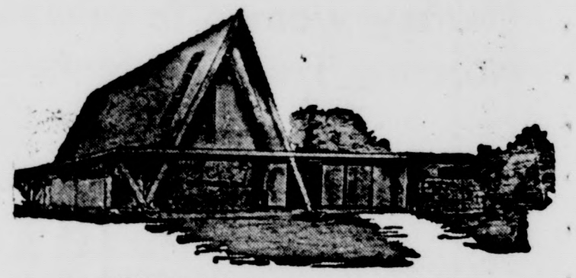

Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell, who moved for adoption of the ordinance, seconded by Supervisor Mrs. Nancy E. Smith, said the proposed licensing fees would merely defray cost of operating the increased duties of the sheriff's detail.

Noted humorist to address Upland Rotarians Aug. 31

Stary Gange, a gas company special consultant, will address members of Upland Rotary Club at the Women's Club Wednesday, Aug. 31 speaking on the tremendous growth of California and the increasing need for more fuel, water, transportation and schools.

Those attending the luncheon meeting will hear one of the country's widely known humorous and inspirational speakers deliver his address, "Swing High or Swing Low."

He is presented as a community service by the investor-owned utility. West End theatre group seeks Thespians, plus player piano

Wanted! One 12-year-old boy, one 12-year-old girl, and one 30-year-old player piano.

Garrick Players, the West End's community theatre group, is searching for this peculiar trio for the fall production of Samuel Taylor's "The Happy Time." Uplander Clark Marshall, director of the three-act play, announces that tryouts will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 29, 30 and 31, at the Oasis Youth Center, Euclid Avenue at Transit Street, Ontario, at 7:30 p.m.

"The Happy Time" is set in the middle 1920's in Ottawa, Canada. The script calls for a young boy on the verge of growing up; the lad's father, a kindly but worldly-wise French gentleman; the boy's mother, an outspoken though affectionate Scotswoman; Grandpere, a dashing, amorous man-about-town; Uncle Desmonde, a younger though equally ardent version of his grandfather; and Mignonette, a lovely female boarder who is charmed by the Bonnard family.

Co-produced by Maxine Coats Lentz and Valerie Barna, the play will be presented Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22, at the Upland Woman's Club, 590 N. 2nd Ave., Upland.

And the player piano? One that plays would fit the bill -- so would one that doesn't. If you have such a stage-struck piano, call 982-7087.

35 years' perfect attendance is record of Upland Rotarian

Once each week, for the past 35 years, John Baumgartner, 86, of 242 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, has attended a Rotary luncheon somewhere in the United States.

Wednesday, Aug. 17, the Upland Rotary Club presented him with a 35-year perfect attendance pin.

Not only has Mr. Baumgartner kept a perfect record for those years, but he has been to Rotary meetings in all of the 50 states and to six international Rotary gatherings from Cleveland to Mexico City.

This longtime Rotarian came to Upland in 1945 from Arkansas where he spent 52 years in that state's school system. Mr. Baumgartner has been a teacher, an administrator and president of a junior college in Beebe, Ark.

Among his friends he can count William Fulbright, the senator from Arkansas, as well as millionaires, lawyers and bankers who were once students of his. When Fulbright was president of the University of Arkansas, Mr. Baumgartner was on the college's staff.

To explain his wide associations he simply says, "I like to mingle with people."

In 1958 Arkansas Gov. Orville Faubus named Baumgartner an "Arkansas Traveler." This is the highest honor that can be bestowed on a citizen of that state.

Since coming to Upland the former educator has been highly active in the Upland Rotary as well as serving as president of the Upland Red Cross from 1950-52, and serving as chairman of the Upland Co-ordinating Council for five years in the late 1940's. He is a member of the University Club of Claremont, the Metropolitan Club, the "Fun After 50" Club and the Cathedral of the Foothills Methodist Church.

The first time Mr. Baumgartner saw Upland was in 1904 when he brought his sister out here for her health. "I made 12 trips out here between 1904 and 1945 before they let me stay," he says with a grin.

The next thing the Illinois native (he was born near Chicago, and attended the University of Chicago) would like to do is attend the upcoming Rotary International gathering in Paris.

He doesn't believe he will, but you never can tell about an "Arkansas Traveler," he just might travel to France.

Besides Mr. Baumgartner, nine other Rotarians received perfect attendance pins. They included: Lee Travers, two years; Bob Walline, six years, Lyle Callow, seven years; Jack Atwood, nine years; Ross Crampton, 10 years; Jay Leman, 15 years, Bill Walton, 19 years; and Paul Hottel, 22 years.

AWARDS WERE MANY - John Baumgartner has received many awards throughout his long life. Besides the 35-year perfect attendance pin from the Upland Rotary Club and being named an "Arkansas Traveler," he also was given the school bell he used from 1911 to 1936 in Brinkley, Ark.

SUGGESTION PAYS OFF -- Boyd Karch, 668 N. 2nd St., Upland, is shown with his son, Darren, and wife, Catherine, as the family chooses a washer and dryer from the selection of seven possible awards which were available to the winner of the August Idea Proposal Award Drawing held at the Kaiser Steel Plant, Fontana.

Idea nets Uplander new washer, dryer

Boyd Karch, 668 N. 2nd Ave., Upland, won a washer and dryer in Kaiser Steel's third monthly Idea Proposal Award Program held at the Fontana plant Aug. 11.

Karch was among 98 employees who qualified by having their cost-saving ideas approved for installation during July.

The idea proposal award was initiated to encourage more hourly employees to submit ideas for reducing areas of high cost in plant operations. Savings are shared among all employees through the Kaiser Steel-United Steelworkers Long Range Sharing Plan. To be eligible for the award, idea submitters must be United Steelworkers of America bargaining unit employees at the Fontana plant.

The idea which qualified Karch for the August drawing was an improved method for supporting long pipe being moved by straddle carriers.

Karch has been an employee at the Kaiser Steel plant for 19 years. He is a craneman in the continuous weld pipe mill.

Hydro-electric plant model Mt. Baldy entry in LA Fair

POMONA--The first hydro-electric plant designed for long distance transmission in California will be recreated at the Los Angeles County Fair.

The model is Mt. Baldy's entry in feature exhibits competition.

A water wheel, plants native to the San Antonio Canyon area and relics of the era in which the installation was built will complete the exhibit.

During the fair's 17-day run, Sept. 16 to Oct. 2, the exhibit will be displayed in the Agricultural Building along with exhibits from many California cities and counties.

Mt. Baldy will be competing for more than $55,000 in cash premium awards offered this year to outstanding feature creations.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Mt. Baldy Chamber of Commerce.

Construction slated on 10 tract homes

Building permits were issued Thursday, Aug. 18, to Provident Mortgage Co. of Pasadena for construction of 10 tract homes in the $15,000-$16,500 range.

The 10 homes are the first of 38 units to be built just south of 8th Street and west of San Antonio Avenue. Construction will start as soon as possible.

The building permits are the first issued for tract homes since 20 permits were issued in April to the Glay-Wood Corp.

Uplanders enter 4-H competition

VICTORVILLE -- Bob and Linda Nichols, 2499 Mountain Lane, Upland, have a number of entries in the 19th annual San Bernardino County Fair at Victorville, opening its six-day run Aug. 31.

A senior at Upland High School, he has entered dairy goats and beef animals. It's his third year at the fair.

His sister, in 9th grade, has entered dairy goats, and cooking, canning, sewing, home furnishings, safety posters. She's winner of the outstanding dairy products award for the county. It's her fourth year in the fair.

They're members of the Monte Vista 4-H club.

Upland woman enters LA Fair

POMONA -- Mrs. Nancy Tramontana, 1448 E. 15th St., Upland, has entered fancy decorated cakes in domestic arts competition at the Los Angeles County Fair.

More than 8,000 exhibitors will compete for shares of $224,000 in cash premium awards offered this year.

An estimated one million people will visit the fair during its 17-day run Sept. 16 to Oct. 2.

Pvt. James Rinaldi completes course

FORT ORD (AHTNC)--Army Pvt. James B. Rinaldi, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario R. Rinaldi, 1194 Eddington St., Upland, completed an eight-week administration course at Fort Ord, Aug. 5.

During the course, he was trained in the preparation of military records and forms. Instruction was also given in fundamentals of the Army filing system and in the operation of office business machines.

Nearly 2,000 horses will compete for over $247,000 in purses, overnight handicaps and stakes in the 1966 California State Fair racing meet, Aug. 31-Sept. 11.

NEW ADMINISTRATIVE INTERN - David Seeley (left), past administrative intern at San Antonio Community Hospital, welcomes Robert Boyle Jr., the hospital's 15th administrative intern. Boyle joined the hospital staff Aug. 15.

San Antonio Community Hospital welcomes administrative intern

Robert L. Boyle, Jr. of Orinda, Calif., recently arrived in Upland to begin his year of administrative internship at San Antonio Community Hospital.

The internship, under the preceptorship of John L. Towers, administrator, is the first phase of the University of California at Berkely's three-year graduate program leading to a masters of public health degree in hospital administration.

David Seeley, the intern for the past year, will be moving shortly to Berkeley, where he will begin the second part of the program. This second phase consists of a year of graduate study on the Berkeley campus. The final phase of the program is a one-year residency in hospital administration, usually served in a larger teaching hospital or medical center.

Boyle is the 15th administrative intern to be associated with San Antonio Community Hospital in this program. During his year at the hospital, he will receive extensive orientation and practical work experience in the function and management of a community hospital.

The new intern received his bachelor of commercial science degree in business administration from Seattle University. Boyle and his wife, Carolyn, will reside in Upland.

WELCOME TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT -- Upland Fire Chief Leon Lamphear extends his hand to welcome Upland's two newest firemen, Charles Gerard (center) and Clyde C. Koontz. The two men began work and training Aug. 16. They are the first of eight men to be hired in preparation for expansion to the new substation in north Upand. Gerard was previously a fireman from 1960-62 in Rapid City, S. D.

GOP ICE CREAM SOCIAL SET TUESDAY, AUG. 30

The public, both Democrats and Republicans, is invited to attend an old fashioned ice cream and cake social sponsored by Valley Vista Republican Club to be held from 6 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 30, at the 72nd Assembly District Republican Headquarters, 406 N. Euclid Ave., Upland.

Four candidates, Jerry Pettis, 33rd Congressional; William Cooombs, 20th State Senate; and Harry Drake and John Briggs 72nd and 35th State Assembly Districts respectively, will be on hand to meet the voters and answer their questions.

Other candidates for state elective office will send representatives. Voter registrars will also be present.

Tickets are 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children under 12 and will be available at the door. Advance sales indicate a large attendance, according to GOP officials.

A KEY TO A KEY EDITOR -- Dwight Worley (left), new manager of the Stuft Shirt Restaurant at Upland, extends key to George Falcon, editor of Key Magazine and Information L. A., both Los Angeles magazines, for his contribution to the restaurant industry in Southern California. Surprise gesture occurred at Stuft Shirt at special feast for members of the press. Young Worley, his wife, Kathy, and small daughter, Erin, formerly of Reseda, have now taken up residence in Upland.

Uplander entered in NRA matches

CAMP PERRY, Ohio -- The National Rifle Association of America has announced that Kenneth G. Moore, of 1061 W. 15th St., Upland, is among the competitors in the 1966 National High-Power Rifle Championships, during the National Matches, at Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 16-26. The national matches, a joint endeavor of the U. S. Armed Forces, NRA and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, bring together, in a competitive spirit, more than 7,000 shooters who will fire in shoulder-to-shoulder competition.

Moore and his fellow shooters, who number more than 2,600, represent this nation's top high-power rifle shooters. They are competing for honors and awards on ranges varying from 200-1000 yards. The high-power championships are divided into two categories - service rifle and bolt rifle. In addition to firing, competitors, veteran and amateur, will attend the small arms firing school.

4-H prizes at new high

VICTORVILLE -- It's "the fair that youth built" and it's only fair that premiums reflect it.

Thus, at the San Bernardino County Fair more than 70 per cent -- a record high -- of all winnings are reserved for earnest young 4-H and Future Farmers of America youth.

The total is $18,687 of the $26,561 offered during the 19th annual fair opening its gala 6-day run on Aug. 31.

Notable increases this year come in beef cattle -- up nearly $900, to $2,930 -- and in dairy cattle, $3,834, and sheep, $3,-354. Other livestock totals are dairy goats, $1,976, and swine, $1,490.

Voters' league offers services

Shut-ins and elderly persons unable to register for the general election may contact the League of Women Voters of West San Bernardino County to set up an appointment with a registrar.

For information call Mrs. Clive F. Warner, of 512 W. 21st St., Upland, at YU 2-5020.

Absentee ballot applications may also be obtained.

The league, a bi-partisan organization, is carrying out this project as a part of their voter service work.

'Weekend warriors' on constant alert

By TERRY COVILLE

Weekend warriors is a term applied to men who serve their country in one of the military service's reserve units or in a state National Guard unit.

One of the largest and busiest of these units in the West End area is the 163rd Fighter Group of the California Air National Guard, based at Ontario International airport.

The 163rd is composed of approximately 800 men from such local communities as Upland, Montclair, Cucamonga, Ontario, etc., and as far away as San Diego and Palm Springs.

About 200 of these men are fulltime air technicians, employed by the state to keep the base maintained continuously. The rest are the weekend warriors; men who devote one weekend each month to their military obligation and 15 days of field training each year.

Although only a part-time force, the presence of this unit takes a considerable load off the regular Air Force for defense. The 163rd was recently returned to five-minute Air Defense Command (ADC) status. This means that from the time a warning of enemy attack is given, it takes only five minutes to have our jets in the air.

The group is on a 24-hour alert, maintaining a minimum number of fighter aircraft on instant readiness and manned by standby aircrews and support personnel. the 163rd's primary mission is the air defense of Southern California, shared with active duty units of the U. S. Air Force.

Local men who serve in the Air National Guard find a variety of duties at the base, from mechanics, to pilots to doctors. The 163rd unit consists of: The 163rd Group Headquarters, the 169th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, the 163rd Supply Squadron, the 163rd Consolidated Aircraft maintenance Squadron, the 163rd Combat Support Squadron and the 163rd USAF Dispensary. The 196th Weather Flight unit is attached to the 163rd.

At the Ontario base the 163rd has 22 F-102's and 40 qualified pilots. Most of the pilots have been trained by the Air Force and the majority fly for commercial airlines in their off duty hours. These pilots must meet the same regulations and standards as those in the active units of the Air Force.

In addition to going on ADC status, the California Air National Guard Unit has also adopted a "Texas Plan" for the 15 days of active duty required of guardsmen each year.

In the past the entire unit was required to spend the 15 days of training, but under the new plan individual men are allowed to complete their training separately and anytime during the year.

This idea was inaugurated to ease the problems of the guardsman who has the responsibility of a civilian job and family obligations.

The advantage of joining the Air National Guard is obvious. For the man who lives in Upland or another nearby city it takes care of his six-year military obligation without removing him from his family or civilian job.

The Air National Guard is growing in popularity. There were 27 slots available in the 163rd for the second half of 1966, according to Roger Skinner, Information Officer, but there were 400 applicants.

EVER ALERT -- The 163rd Fighter Group of the California Air National Guard, based at Ontario International Airport, was recently returned to five-minute Air Defense Command Alert (ADC) status. This means that from the time an alarm is sounded it will take but five minutes before the Guard's jets are in the air. Shown above are part of the facilities of the 163rd Fighter Group along with a few of its 22 F-102 Delta Daggers. Two of the commanding fighter pilots, Captain Thomas H. Orlando and Lt. Col. James S. Rohrer, are returning to the hangar after checking out their aircraft.

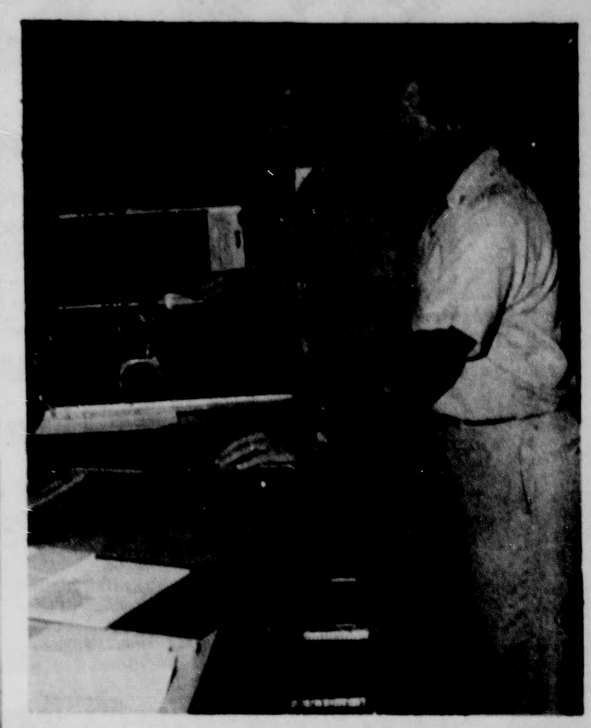

WEEKEND WARRIOR -- Airman 1/C Jim McNabb of Upland picks out a tool from the tool board in the Air Guard's shop where jet engines and other Guard equipment are repaired. McNabb spends one weekend each month at the base doing work such as this. During the week he works for Southern Counties Gas Co.

HIGH-ALTITUDE NECESSITY -- Capt. Robert Tanons of Upland, an interceptor pilot, checks his oxygen mask in the personal equipment room at the base. Like many of the Air National Guard pilots, Tanons is a pilot for a commercial airline when he's off duty. He received his pilot training from the Air National Guard in 1954.

AT THE CENTER -- Airman 1/C Norm Naylor of Ontario (left) and Maj. Calvin Good Jr. of Upland inspect one of more than 50 control panels used in the IBM machines the Air Guard uses for data processing of base activities. Good is the comptroller of the administrative end of the 163rd Fighter Group.

FILE 13

By Walt Orvis

While pumping up a tire (bicycle) I got to thinking about the good old days, and I've decided we are all spoiled rotten.

Not that I don't enjoy being a little spoiled. Or a lot. My wife spoils me something terrible.

But my hands on that tire pump reminded me of the days when we pumped up car tires out along the road, which wasn't paved.

It wasn't long ago, either. I'm not as old as I may sound to some of the younger generation.

I just happen to have a long memory. Like the Model T. It was still THE car when I was a small boy. We didn't have a car in the late 20's and early 30's. But now and then we went for a picnic in a borrowed Model T coupe belonging to one of the men who worked for my dad.

We had two spares on the tail end of the car, which was pretty common way back when. Sometimes two spares weren't enough, and we wound up patching a tube and pumping up a tire beside the road.

We didn't moan and complain. It was just part of life when you went for a drive.

The roads were mostly gravel surfaced in those days. There were always plenty of nails, nuts, bolts and other tire-menacing metallic litter mixed into the gravel.

In fact the highway department had a truck with a generator on board and a big electromagnet hanging close to the road across the rear of the truck.

Periodically those magnet trucks would cover all the highways in Oregon, picking up those odd bits of metal that punctured tires so readily.

I was probably more aware of the highways and highway equipment and surfaces because my father was maintenance foreman in Reedsport, the little Oregon coastal town where we lived.

* * *

Because of Dad's work, I had one memorable trip in a highway truck.

He was working in Corvallis, and was transferred to Reedsport. All our belongings were loaded into two highway department trucks for the trip from Corvallis to Reedsport.

Dad drove one truck, and a man named Claude Moore drove the other. Mom, my older sister and baby brother road in the Nash-Quad with Dad.

My older brother and I rode in the Packard with Claude. Both trucks made it all in one day, over Hancock Mountain, too.

It was quite a trip. Gravel flipping out from under the tires all the way. Up Hancock Mountain in low gear.

Few times we had to pull out, or cars did, so we could pass.

At lunch time we had trouble finding a cafe. Finally found one, what used to be the front porch of a farm house, with real home cooking.

Now I think the trip we made that day in 1928 could be made in a truck in a few hours. Both vehicles and highways are quite a little better.

* * *

I'd like to have a station wagon. Currently that appears to be the best all-around compromise vehicle for the Orvis tribe. Our four-door sedan has certain drawbacks for the stuff we try to carry sometimes in addition to people. If someone would GIVE me a wagon, I'd buy it.

But like everyone else, I want to have my cake and eat it too. I'd like to have a lot of space, air-conditioned of course, and get by relatively easy on gas like I do with my 120-horsepower compact, not to mention my 32-horsepower Austin.

As I said, I'm spoiled.

* * *

Thinking about pumping up tires, and carrying several people in comfort, reminded me of another memorable automobile trip, back in 1931.

We visited my maternal grandparents in Missoula, Mont. My Aunt Beth had recently lost her husband and was staying with us for a while, she and her 1926 Dodge four-door sedan.

That is what we made the trip from Reedsport to Missoula in. All of us, my parents, their three normal children, and me, plus Aunt Beth.

We made the trip in fine shape. There wasn't nearly the inside room nor trunk space in that '26 Dodge that we have in our '62 compact.

We have a few flats. We found a little paved highway, each piece of which was a real joy.

* * *

Three adults and four children in a car that size was worse jamming than we would even put up with now on a short trip.

And here I am trying to figure out how to carry fewer people and luggage in a bigger car that covers ground twice as fast, in greater comfort, and with more room.

As I said, we are really spoiled in this day and age. What the heck would I do if I had several children instead of just one? Buy a bus?

* * *

One of these days I may just get a station wagon. They cost a pretty penny, I've learned, especially the air-conditioned variety. And the bigger ones burn gas like big overpowered cars.

I might have to settle for a used late model wagon. Trouble is, I'm afraid I'm one of those types who would wind up with a peck of troubles if I bought a used car.

Others buy them, and have no problems. If I bought one, it would have nothing but breakdowns, troubles and extra expenses that would cost more than a new wagon.

* * *

Maybe I'm spoiled?

BINGO JR. VISITS UPLAND -- Bingo Jr., the new mascot of the San Bernardino County Fair, was in Upland Monday along with pretty Miss Fontana, 19-year-old Gail Alm, and Charles Toole (center), a director of the fair, to give Mayor Jim Christensen a handful of tickets. The five-month-old burro and Miss Fontana were touring West End cities to boost spirit for the fair which opens Wednesday, Aug. 31, in Victorville. The tickets given to the Mayor entitle the holder to one free admission with each paid admission for the first three days of the fair. These tickets may be picked up at the local Chamber of Commerce, the City Hall or at the Upland News. Bingo Jr. (a female) is replacing the old mascot, Bingo, who had reigned for 15 years. The burro will be quartered at the fairgrounds the year round.

What better way to spend $30,000?

Because of the absence of two members of the Chaffey Union High School District Board of Trustees, no action was taken at the board's meeting, Aug. 15, on improvements planned for the proposed service road paralleling the Upland High School football field and tennis courts along Foothill Boulevard.

A report on the proposed improvements was outlined to the board by James Clark, CUHS director of facilities, who also gave a breakdown on the costs.

Overall, the project will come to $30,000. This includes $12,000 for asphalt paving; $8,000 for curbing; $4,000 for sidewalks; and $6,000 for trees, plants and shrubs. Parking for 80 cars also is included in the plan.

The plan is excellent, but any further delay in its becoming a reality would be a disservice to the entire community.

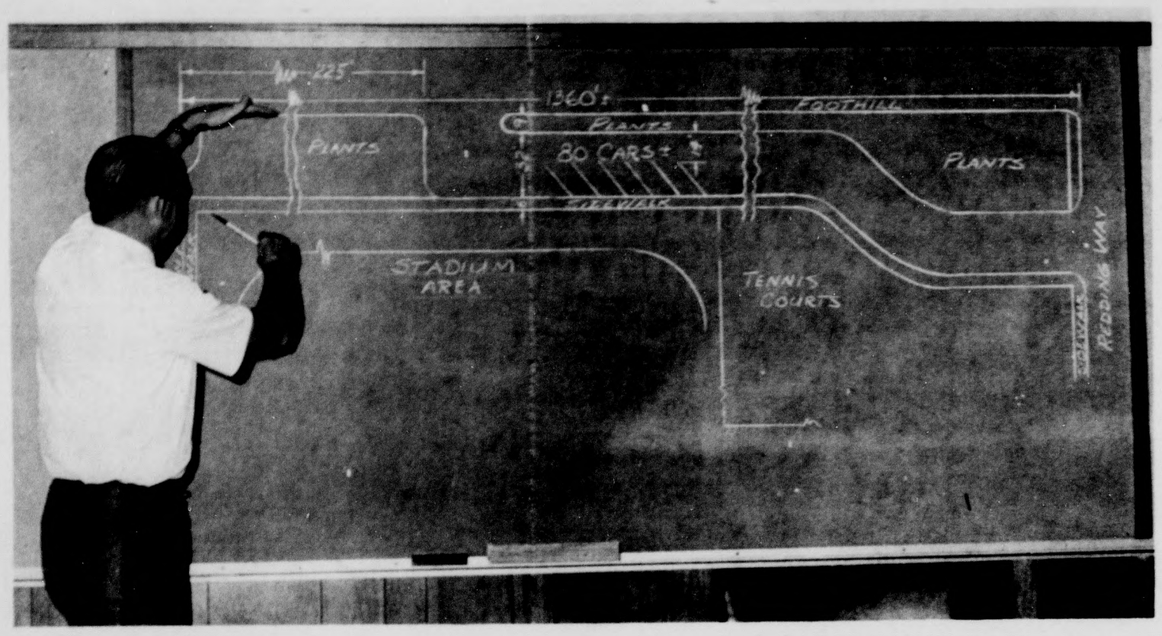

The area is a disgrace. Not only is it an eyesore but a traffic hazard. And it certainly doesn't speak well for the school district when visiting teams and fans get a look at these unsightly conditions in "The City of Gracious Living."

It also was indicated at the meeting the work will not be done this year because funds for the project would have to be taken from the school district's reserve account.

We see no reason why the money shouldn't be taken from the reserve fund. The project is a necessity, not a luxury. And what guarantee is there that the work will be done next year or five years from now if action isn't taken immediately?

The trustees would be exercising sound judgment if they approved this project at their meeting Sept. 6, at which time the full board probably will be sitting.

It would be $30,000 well spent.

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS - James Clark, director of facilities, showed the Board of trustees of the Chaffey Union High School District at its meeting Monday, Aug. 15, what the proposed improvement of the service road between the Upland High School football field and Foothill Boulevard would involve. The paving and parking lot would cut out some of the practice field east of the tennis courts, but not to any great extent. The drawing on the blackboard is shortened somewhat. Cost of project is estimated at $30,000.

Priority for 'gifted child'?

(Reprinted from the San Bernardino Sun-Telegram, Sunday, Aug. 14)

Should college-level courses in high school be considered "way out"? Spurred by vigorous support of the California State Board of Education, a campaign to promote the idea of offering college courses in history, mathematics, science and foreign language will begin this autumn in the Golden State.

Categorized "Advanced Placement" (AP), the program's announced purpose is to challenge academic-minded and highly motivated students who, reportedly, are all too often bored with some of the academic fare prescribed in the regular secondary-school curriculum.

California State Department of Education's new Advanced Placement coordinator, Joseph F. Palaia, offers this explanation of the program:

"College-level courses, taught by able and ambitious high school teachers, are available to able and ambitious high school students while they are attending their regular high school.

"When the courses are completed, the students are given Advanced Placement examinations prepared by the College Entrance Examination Board.

"If the student passes the examination, he usually is given college credit by institutions of higher learning, such as Stanford, University of California, the California State College System and others."

Advocates and supporters of Advanced Placement insist the new program not only ends the problem of the bright--but bored--secondary student, but it also improves the quality of teaching in participating schools, raises teacher morale and, finally, uplifts the entire intellectual tone in classes outside the AP endeavor.

Chronologically, the California State Board of Education--utilizing federal funds from the Elementary and Secondary education Act of 1965--employed Palaia and subsequently appointed the statewide Advanced Placement Committee to move California into a leadership role for the AP program in the nation. On the Advanced Placement program's potential, Palaia declared:

"For the first time the state will be able to offer California school districts significant service in operating and developing effective AP programs. We will be attempting to expand AP across the state. Today only 140 high schools are participating. But by the end of the year, we expect this number to increase by 30 per cent."

The so-called "gifted child" in California schools certainly deserves every consideration. The Advanced Placement program, on the surface, seems to be the answer to providing a challenge for the boy or girl who is far advanced academically.

Facts and facts and, because the Advanced Placement program requires the best teachers and small classes, the enterprise will be expensive. Realistically, the only state financial aid a California high school may receive to support an AP program is $40 per pupil per year now made available for gifted students.

Administrators will be prudent to weigh and evaluate carefully all aspects of educational needs. The so-called "gifted child" should not be neglected. At the same time, the average student's educational needs must not be ignored.

California educators veritably are being bombarded with revolutionary ideas. The state's new reading program, purportedly designed to diagnose and to correct reading deficiencies on a massive scale in the early grades, will be launched this September. Add to this the much-publicized Advanced Placement program, and administrators definitely have their work cut out for them. An educational balance, adequate to meet the needs of each California public schools student, must be attained.

Innovatory educational programs merit experimentation--but not at the expense of curtailing educational opportunities for a portion of our average school-age population.

State Sen. Eugene Nisbet Reports:

More about smog and its rising cost

California is recognized as a national leader in combating the problems of air and water pollution, thanks to legislation enacted in recent years to reduce the fouling of our land air environment. This is not to say that everything possible has already been done, but California has managed to recognize its pollution problems at an early stage and to act on them vigorously before matters get completely out of hand, as in some eastern and midwestern states.

A national business magazine recently called attention to this California leadership in a discussion of how various states and cities are seeking new ways to clean up their air, water and land before the growing waste disposal problem overwhelms us all. The article especially dwells on what we have done to cut air pollution resulting from motor vehicle fumes.

Although I recognize that there still are strong differences of opinion over how effective vehicle smog control devices are, I believe that they are getting better and will continue to do so as the automobile manufacturers carry on further research. A California law which made vehicle fume control devices mandatory has become the model for national regulations taking effect late in 1967.

A spokesman for the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board was quoted by the business magazine to the effect that the American people must realize they will have to pay as much for air pollution controls on their cars as they now pay for such extras as two-tone paint or padded upholstery. When you carry this truth a few steps farther, it means that the taxpayers, consumers, industrial firms -- everybody, really -- will have to assume a share of the cost in fighting air pollution.

Although vehicles do create much of this situation, there are many other causes, each of which needs to be studied and controlled. These include smoke from industrial plants, backyard incinerators, burning dumps, dust from many types of disturbances, and chemicals used in house paint -- to name just a few. All contribute by reacting with moisture and natural elements in the air to cause smog.

New York this year passed a law requiring installation of improved municipal and apartment house incinerators to cut the amount of smoke and chemicals going into the air. Better devices are being installed on industrial chimneys in many areas to prevent the escape of irritating fumes from that source.

It can be done and it must be done, in California and throughout the United States. It takes research, time, patience, determination -- and above all, money, but in our increasingly urbanized society, air pollution from whatever source within man's ability to control must be reduced drastically if "the good life" is to be worth living.

The Legislature can be proud of its accomplishments to date in helping to keep California's air clean. But as more evidence comes in to pinpoint sources of pollution and as ways are found to deal with the complex problem, all signs point to the need for further large-scale effort by California lawmakers, both state and local, to enact protective legislation. Our whole economy and way of life eventually may depend on how successful and far-sighted we are.

TO THE EDITOR:

The past eight weeks have been successful and fun-filled days for the Recreation Department of the City of Upland. This could not have been possible, however, without the cooperation of many individuals.

I want to take the opportunity to express my gratitude to you for the many news articles and the picture coverage you gave our summer program. Your cooperation and understanding of our wants has been deeply appreciated.

I hope, in the future, we can continue to call upon you to give our summer program excellent newspaper coverage. Please give my personal thanks to Terry Coville for his cooperation.

Sincerely,
George Schilens
Recreation Director

Christian Science sermon announced

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science church services on Sunday.

The Golden Text is a verse from I Thessalonians: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

Episodes from each of the four Gospels will be read, covering different aspects of the life of Jesus, accompanied by selections from the denominational textbook, including these lines:

"Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage . . . . It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practiced. . . . We must forsake the foundation of material systems, however time-honored, if we would gain the Christ as our only Saviour" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.)

Pomona Catholic announces administrative appointments

The newly appointed principal of Pomona Catholic Boys' High School, Rev. James J. Mitchell, SS.CC., has announced the following administrative appointments: Rev. Dominic Crewe, SS.CC., vice-principal and dean of studies; Rev. Peter Dennis, SS.CC., dean of discipline; Very Rev. Joseph Dowling, SS.CC., guidance director; Rev. Fergus Donnelly, SS.CC., director of public relations; and Rev. Patrick Travers, SS.CC., dean of admittance and athletic director.

The administration was honored in July by a visit from His Eminence, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre. The effects of his visit are now apparent in the extensive improvements on the buildings and property already in progress. The total program includes a complete refurbishing of the gymnasium, remodeling of the music building into a religious and counseling center, construction of a new lunch area at the west end of the property, extensive painting and landscaping. The work on this project is scheduled to last several months.

The highlights of the academic program for the coming year will consist in a special course of the novel being taught by a visiting college professor. The physics course will also be supplemented by a visiting college physicist. These services will be offered to the students who show the greatest academic interest and promise.

All freshmen will be required to take speed reading courses or remedial courses depending on their ability to read.

Pomona Catholic has secured the services of a psychologist, William Kunhart of Claremont, who will direct the complete guidance program in conjunction with Fr. Dowling.

Vocational testing will be a keynote in determining the aptitudes of each student. Fr. Dowling will also guide many of the students in their pursuit of excellence through the honors imparted by the National Honor Society and the California Scholastic Federation.

Dan Buckley and Ron Raya will coach the varsity football squad for the coming season. All varsity home football games will be played at Mt. San Antonio College Stadium. Thomas Ward has been named varsity basketball coach and Raya will continue to coach the baseball team.

A special Coaches' Corner has been organized for the football season. The meetings will be held at the school each Monday at 7:30 p.m. A film of the previous game will be shown and participants will be encouraged to discuss items of interest with the coaches and team doctor.

Students for the coming year will be interested in the many new clubs which were organized at the end of the last semester. Highlights in this sphere of school life will be the science club, the explorers club, the golf and swimming clubs.

There will be two active parents' groups serving the school during the coming year. The Sparten Parent Association will continue its present function. The Mothers Guild, to be formed in the very near future, will find a new role.

Child kidnap law proposed by Dyal

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Kidnaping of a child by its own parent - the loser in a child custody case - would be made a federal offense under a new law proposed by Congressman Ken W. Dyal of San Bernardino County.

"With the growing divorce rate, there is an accompanying growth of child kidnaping cases each year," Rep. Dyal stated.

"Many minor children are kidnaped by the divorced parent who has lost custody. Often these incidents are accompanied by fear and grief, both for the child and the victimized legal guardian.

"Concern for kidnaped animals has rightfully been displayed by the Congress, and I am certain it will do no less for a kidnaped child."

Under present law, the F.B.I. does not enter such "family" abduction cases unless specifically requested by local authorities. The new bill is intended to provide the F.B.I. with authority to save kidnaped children and harassed parents much mental anguish.

First Federal reports: 'No tight money here'

A Pomona savings and loan official today questioned published reports that there was a dearth of money in this area for good quality home loans.

"We are making loans here every day," Paul D. Walker, president of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association said.

Walker said his association disbursed more than $14 1/2 million on 872 loans during the first six months of the year, and the directors have allocated another $3 1/2 million for anticipated loans in the current third quarter.

He said the association is continuing to accept applications from qualified buyers on property located in the areas served by Pomona First Federal's seven offices.

"I'm not suggesting that money isn't more scarce now than it was a year or two ago," Walker explained. "But Pomona First Federal has not been restricted in the flow of funds."

"Our delinquency and foreclosure portfolio is far below the state average," he explained.

The association, he said, continues to operate at a profit, which is more than enough to meet its current annual dividend rate of 5 1/2 per cent and the 5 3/4 per cent paid on longer term bonus accounts.

Dear Michael's Customer:

We wish to thank you for helping us celebrate our 6th Birthday throughout the month of August. It is with great pride that we at Michael's serve you, the wonderful people who have made it possible for us to grow to a 24 store chain in only six years. We are very proud of this growth. Yet, we honestly don't believe size is the best measure of success. Our true success depends on just one store.... The store where we serve YOU. So what we are really celebrating is your understanding and acceptance of the unique Michael's philosophy of service. That is, we try to be as concerned as you are with your family's health, pleasure, and budget. To this end, we will continue to provide finest quality (Like Our Choice Meats And Produce), Personalized Service, and Friendly Staff, and Low Everyday Prices (with Surprise Specials whenever we can).

So on Our Birthday we say THANK YOU for being our CUSTOMERS..... and more important, our FRIENDS.
